Question: 2
SCENARIO: A company wants to do custom salary planning application in addition to their standard Expense and Revenue Planning in Hyperion Planning. The company has 1000 employees spread across 250 cost centers. Detailed planning is done at the employee level for Salaries & Wages and Benefits accounts, but not for any other expense accounts. HR department requires that all new hires and transfers occur in PeopleSoft, therefore you can assume that no data will exist for a single employee across multiple cost centers. Cost center managers may only view and edit salary data for their own existing employees in Hyperion Planning.
What is the optimal application design to achieve the best possible system performance?
