- C. It provides a basis for evaluating the internal audit activity.
- D. It should be approved by senior management and the board.

Answer: B

QUESTION: 4

In assessing the independence of the internal audit activity, a member of a peer review team should consider all of the following factors except

- A. Access to and frequency of communications with the board of directors or its audit committee.
- B. The criteria of education and experience considered necessary when filling vacant positions on the audit staff.
- C. The degree to which auditors assume operating responsibilities.
- D. The scope and depth of engagement objectives for the audit engagements included in the review.

Answer: B

QUESTION: 5

To enhance the independence of both the internal and external audit functions, audit committees should be composed of

- A. A rotating subcommittee of the board of directors or its equivalent.
- B. A combination of external members of the board of directors and company officers.
- C. Members from all important constituencies, specifically including representatives from banking, labor, regulatory agencies, shareholders, and officers.
- D. Only external members of the board of directors or other similar oversight committees.

Answer: D

QUESTION: 6

Answer: B

QUESTION: 8

Two individuals are being considered for an audit team that is to perform a highly technical review. Which of the following situations would preclude selection of the individual for the audit due to an objectivity concern?

- I. Person A is a member of the internal audit staff and has the required technical skills. Person A participated in a controls review of the system to be audited when it was being developed.
- II. Person B is a technical specialist who understands the audit area but is not a member of the internal audit staff. Although person B has personal credibility in the information systems department to be audited, person B works for another department in the organization.

- A. I only.
- B. II only.
- C. Both I and II.
- D. Neither I nor II.

Answer: D

QUESTION: 9

Management asked the internal audit activity to evaluate the appropriateness of self-insuring against casualty losses and health care for the organization's employees. Should the chief audit executive engage an actuarial consultant to assist in the audit engagement if these skills do not exist on staff?

- A. No, because the internal audit activity is skilled in assessing controls and the insurance control concepts are not distinctly different from other control concepts.
- B. No, because it is a normal audit function to assess risk; this audit engagement is therefore not unique.
- C. Yes, because an actuarial consultant is essential to determine whether the health-care costs are reasonable.
- D. Yes, because an actuarial consultant has skills, not usually found in the internal audit activity, to identify and quantify self-insurance risks.

Answer: D
